JOHN LANE TAKES ADVANTAGE of a well placed and timely block thrown by Ronnie Clayton to stake claim to more real estate as he gained all of the Eagle yardage in a first quarter 53 yard scoring effort. Lane's fine running was not quite enough as the Eagles dropped the opener to the Round Rock Dragons, 9-12.

Eagles drop Friday opener 9-12

The Georgetown Eagles dropped their opening football game of the 1975 season to the Round Rock Dragons here Friday night by the score of 9-12. The game was probably decided on a controversial play which the officials apparently did not see.

It was early in the fourth quarter with the Eagles leading 7-6 when Troy Sanderfer punted for the Eagles from his own 19 yard line. The punt spiraled high up field to the Dragon 45 yard line where a Round Rock player waited with his arm raised high in the air, waving it back and forth, for a fair catch. The Eagle players coming down under the punt saw the upraised arm and relaxed instead of converging on the receiver. But instead of faircatching the ball the Round Rock player gathered it in and raced up field to the Eagle 23 yard line. From there the Dragons drove for the go ahead touchdown.

As expected it was a hard fought football game from start to finish with the momentum going first with one team and then the other. It was the Eagles who had the first opportunity with the football as Scott Fairburn gathered in the Dragons' onside kick try at the Georgetown 47 yard line.

The Eagles went the 53 yards for the score with John Lane carrying the ball on every down. Lane rolled up 48 yards in 12 rushing attempts with the other 5 yards coming on a Dragon penalty. Lane's final sortie in the drive was right up the middle from two yards out. Following the touchdown Eddie Catron split the uprights for the extra point and the Eagles owned a 7-0 lead which stood up until the game was five minutes deep into the second quarter.

The momentum of the game changed in favor of the Dragons when quarterbacks Lance Mann and Kenny Cogdell began to connect on passes and the Eagle pass defense appeared to be glaringly porous.

The Dragons drove 68 yards for their first score. It began on their own 31 yard line when a Dragon recovered an Eagle fumble. On the first play Mann threw a prodigious pass to Mark Hester who gathered it in on the Eagle 39 for a 30 yard gain. After a Mann pass to Ted Williams was incomplete the Dragons were penalized 15 yards, and James Earl gained 8 rushing. With third down and still 17 yards needed for a first down it appeared that the Dragon drive was stalled, but Mann dropped back and twirled a 20 yard pass to Hester.

This put the Dragons in business on the Eagle

Council schedules variety of business for Monday night

Utilities rate hikes, new building permit fees, two new ordinances, capital improvements, and annexations will occupy Georgetown City Councilmen at their regular meeting Monday.

The session is slated for 7 p.m. in the Council Room at City Hall, 103 W. Seventh St.

At that meeting, the city is expected to increase the amount of the "fuel adjustment" charge it tacks onto monthly electrical bills, and Lone Star Gas will seek final approval of its rate hike request.

In recent months, the city has regularly added 60 percent of base rate charges onto electricity bills under provisions of its contract with the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA).

But LCRA has notified its customers of a doubling in its fuel adjustment charge to cover variable costs of generator fuel, and officials say they will have to add more onto their customers' bills to cover the cost.

Lone Star Gas requested an increase of 19.8c per thousand cubic feet at the last Council meeting. Councilmen passed the first reading of an ordinance approving the request, which would raise the average residential bill about $16.00 per year. Monday night they will hear the second reading of the ordinance and take a final vote on it.

Building inspector Tom Sams is scheduled to introduce resolutions to raise building permit fees and to comply with state regulations regarding use of Community Development funds.

Sams introduced four proposed additions to city building codes at the last Council meeting, including plumbing, mechanical, heating and air conditioning codes, as well as the latest revision of the Southern Building Congress standard code.

Second readings of ordinances adopting those proposals will be heard Monday and final votes taken.

Asst. City Manager W. L. Walden has designed two proposed new ordinances for introduction to the Council on Monday. One would prohibit parking along Austin Avenue from Sixth Street north to Morrow, and from Ninth Street south to Eighteenth Street.

Last listing call on City Directory

Typesetting has been completed on Georgetown's new City Directory, but there is still time for additions to be made before the book goes to press, according to John King, owner of Heritage Printing.

"Those who were not able to contact during the summer or were not aware who have recently moved to Georgetown, are encouraged to call us at 863-5454 so that we can make information in the book as complete and up-to-date as possible," he said.

Commissioners violate Open Meetings Law

Although the only item on Tuesday's called meeting of Williamson County Commissioners was "hiring of jailer," policies for the County Ambulance Service were reviewed for approximately an hour.

Commissioners indicated the policies would be adopted at Monday's regular meeting and an ambulance supervisor would be hired.

A recent Texas Attorney General's ruling stated that agendas must designate each subject (enough to identify) to be discussed at a meeting. Although Commissioners took no action concerning ambulance policies at Tuesday's meeting, the lengthy discussion was in violation of the Texas Open Meetings Law.

The Open Meetings Law specifically states: "Written notice of the date, hour, place, and subject of each meeting held by a governmental body shall be given before the meeting as prescribed by this section."

Here come the tax bills

City property tax bills will be mailed to nearly 3,150 Georgetown residents and companies before October 1, with the city enjoying a tax base 16 percent larger this year than last.

Robert Caluette, Georgetown tax assessor-collector, said assessed value of all real and personal property within the city limits (60 percent of appraised value) jumped from $19.5 million in fiscal 1974 to almost $23.8 million for fiscal 1975, which began Monday.

The city will bill $211,743.88 in property tax this year as compared to $176,961 last year. Bills not paid by January 31 are delinquent.

Caluette said the increase reflects steady growth for Georgetown.

"It's all tied into growth one way or another," he remarked. "A good part of the increase is due to new construction. We also had some annexation off Williams Drive which raised value, and we picked up quite a bit of property tax from business and shopping centers."

Property tax revenues go into the city's general and sinking interest funds, making up

the passing glance

At long last! Those wires ranging around the square are gone and rapidly are being forgotten.

All that is left to do, a quick glance tells us, is for the old telephone poles to be pulled up and hauled away.

OUR THANKS to the citizens who voted a $20,000 bond issue and to General Telephone for spending a like amount to get the job done. It took a long time but the consummation of a long-expressed wish is right here.

Two or three hundred potential customers to the Georgetown-Round Rock game Friday night didn't attend the game, I calculate, because they wanted to watch the Dallas Cowboy-Oakland Raider game the same evening. Multiply this by all the high school games throughout the state and send a bill to the Hon. Tex Schramm, Cowboy president, who ignored pleas from the Texas Interscholastic League not to put on his show. "If we hadn't been on TV that night, some other NFL team would have," Schramm claimed, ignoring the fact that Dallas is the only pro team that has a true, statewide following of avid fans. Shame on you, Tex!

I WOULDN'T SAY that the SUN is "tough" when it comes to collecting delinquent accounts but Kenneth "Bud" Jordan did amble over with a check from the county to clear up a matter of overdue taxes. The $5,750 payment was necessary so that a tax suit could be cleared up. Date of said suit — December 28, 1927. We never give up!

I SAT DOWN RECENTLY for a cup of coffee with J. H. "Buster" Compton, Sam Brady and Bill Ludwig and in ten minutes had this column all but finished.

Buster was thinking about the relatives of the deceased gathered to hear the last will and testimony read by the lawyer. The will began, as many wills do, "Being of sound mind," but at that point it took a detour. "Being of sound mind," it said, "I spent it all myself."

That reminded Sam of the fellow who left his worldly goods to friends and relatives and even remembered the tax collector. "To the tax collector, who has been squeezing me most of my life, I leave a lemon. He can squeeze that instead of me for a while."

Then Buster remembered the story of the fellow who designated that his coffin should be borne by the local bankers. "Those fellows have been carrying me for a long time. They might as well finish the job."

And, finally, Bill commented that it was the undertaker who would be the last man in the world to "let you down."

High level dialogue, eh?

Robert L. Finch joins Westinghouse as general manager

ROBERT L. FINCH

new Westinghouse general plant manager

Robert L. Finch has assumed the duties of general manager of the newly created heavy industry motor division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

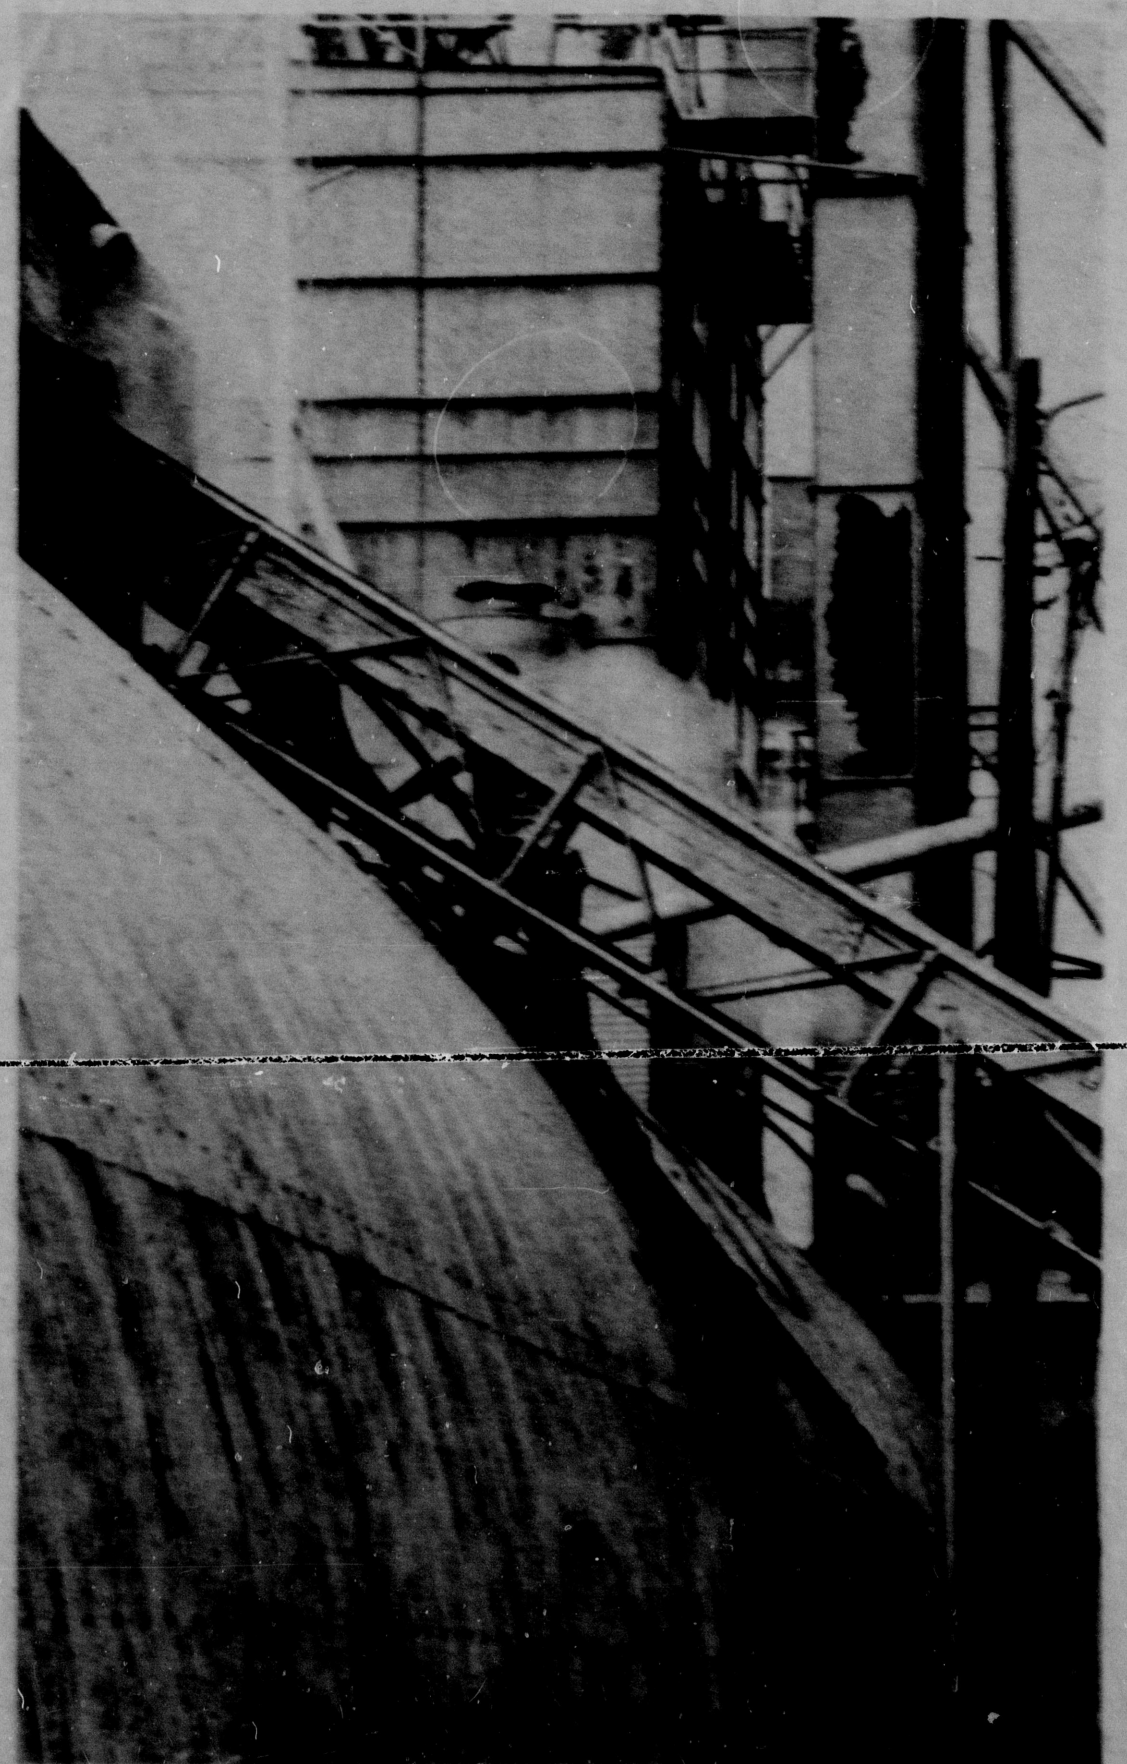

The new division will manufacture large AC and DC motors and generators required by heavy industry, particularly the metals and surface mining industries. These motors will range from 1000 to 12,000 horsepower and weights from three to 250 tons.

Finch, a native of Henderson, N.C., graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1950 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering. He has attended a number of advanced management courses including one at the University of Texas in 1974.

He joined Westinghouse in 1951 as an industrial engineer and advanced through a series of divisional management positions and corporate headquarters staff functions in Pittsburgh, Pa. His most recent assignment was as executive assistant to the executive vice president of the Westinghouse components and materials group.

In his new assignment he will be responsible for starting a manufacturing facility at the Westinghouse Round Rock plant north of Austin which was formerly occupied by the gas turbine engine division. This includes the installation and start up of equipment and the training of employees in diversified manufacturing and assembly skills. It is anticipated that actual production at the facility will start early next year.

Mr. Finch and his family will reside on Grestone Drive in Austin's Northwest Hills.

ALL THAT'S LEFT IS POPCORN — Twenty volunteer firemen and four units worked five hours Wednesday to bring the noon fire at Three Way Feed, Inc. under control. The electrical fire broke out in the corn storage bin damage approximately 35,000 bushels of corn. No insurance covered the building or corn with the total estimated damage at $35,500.00. The storage bin at Three Way Feed is the only one in the area that stores corn, but H. B. Cole said, unlike sorghum and cotton, corn can be left in the field the two weeks the storage bin will be closed.

AMERICAN BALLOTS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

In 27 states ballots must be printed for this fall's elections in languages other than English.

In 464 counties, where there is an appreciable number of adopted Americans who can't read English, ballots must be printed in their language as well as ours.

HOW ABOUT THAT!

The U.S. Department of Justice has messaged local officials in 27 states that, under the 1965 Voting Rights Act, all voters have a right to know what they're voting for or against.

So those that can't speak our language must have special ballots in their language — Spanish, Chinese, Japanese, various Indian tongues and dialects.

I think it is obscene to allow people to participate in running our country when they haven't even bothered to learn the language of our country!

The melting pot is supposed to "melt." Instead, it has become a "pressure" cooker.

ALL OF US AMERICANS are mostly something else. It was presumed that the immigrants who came to our new land would bring with them some of the culture, crafts and mores of the Old World.

But let me quote what Tom Jefferson had to say on the subject:

"In the further importation of foreigners, it is for the happiness of those united in society to harmonize as much as possible in matters which they must of necessity transact together.

"If they bring with them the principles and language of the government they leave, and transmit these to their children, in proportion to their numbers they will share with us in legislation, infuse into it their spirit, warp and bias its direction and render it a heterogeneous, incoherent, distracted mass.

"Suppose 20 millions of republican Americans were thrown all of a sudden into France; what would be the condition of that Kingdom? It would be more turbulent, less happy, less strong.

"We may believe that the addition of foreigners here, demanding the rights of citizenship without conforming to our ways, would have a similarly disastrous effect."

IF I MAY PRESUME to paraphrase the eloquent Mr. Jefferson: When in Rome, do as the Romans do.

When you come to the United States, because it is what it is, you don't try to change it into something which it is not.

And you don't stubbornly stick to your Old World language.

That's like keeping your first wife's picture on your second wife's dressing table!

Watch in the Sinai

Some folks are uptight because of the arrangement for the U. S. to supply a couple of hundred volunteer technicians to take their stand in the Sinai, between Israeli and Egyptian armies. We don't share their pessimism.

WE ARE MORE CONCERNED, surely, with the 40,000 soldiers we have in South Korea. If the North Koreans should march, our boys would be up there fighting them at the border and we would again have huge losses.

Because both Israel and Egypt asked for U. S. observers, it is reasonable to believe both will honor the line. In the meantime, shooting will have stopped, lives will be saved, the world can breathe easier and gasoline prices will probably decline, the experts say!

When Congress reconvenes a few days from now it must decide on whether the 200 men can be stationed in the Sinai. We expect the decision to be in the affirmative.

There go the bucks!

It's a fairly interesting spectacle but we wonder at the necessity of spending a million dollars to impeach Judge O. P. Carrillo of a small and virtually unpopulated south Texas county.

Our state courts could have handled the matter, probably a lot better than our State Senators will, certainly with less expenditure of public funds.

The wood burner

The wood stove has fashioned itself a peculiar niche in the country's history which makes it as much a part of Americana as the horse and buggy, penny candy and the cigar-store Indian, not to mention the one-room schoolhouse and patent medicine.

For many older Vermonters, it evokes memories of days when the pace of life might have been less than frenetic but seemed to have another dimension that has been lost on the way from there to here.

Somewhere there was an ineffable aura in those kitchens of the past, in which the stove crackled and hissed while the aroma of baking bread mingled with the heady scent of burning wood, that one cannot recapture in the plastic kitchens of today, no matter how many gimcracks and geegaws there may be to ease the housewife's burden.

On a frigid winter afternoon, a shivering youngster coming home from school was allowed the luxury of thrusting his nipped feet into the empty oven to toast them for several delicious moments while a pot of stew, bubbling atop the stove, tantalized his nostrils and tastebuds. Chances are, his next job after his toes were thawed was to fill the wood box near the stove.

These memories probably came swirling back to many Vermonters (recently) when the Governor's

U.S.S.R. through teen-age eyes

By Elizabeth Pond

Vilnius, U.S.S.R.

One American boy was hit on the head with a purse by a Russian grandmother who thought he was misbehaving. Other boys with long hair were disapprovingly called "girls" by passing Soviet critics. And one black American girl was stared at a lot and repeatedly asked if she was sure she came from America and not Africa.

But still the 14 Emerson Junior High students from Los Angeles have been enjoying themselves on their three-week visit to the Soviet Union. So far they have seen Yalta, Moscow, Kiev, and Vilnius, and they will spend a few days in Leningrad before heading home.

The Soviet Sputnik organization that handles foreign student visits here said "several" American high school tours do come every year. Exact figures were not available. Groups must have at least 15 students. The travel rates they get are far cheaper than Intourist's mandatory charge for adults. The Los Angeles teen-agers paid about $1,500 each for all plane, hotel, and food costs, including their adult leader's expenses, in the Soviet Union, London, and Amsterdam.

Among the things the teen-agers liked were Russian ice cream, the honor system on Moscow buses, Gum department store ("like a self-contained world"), and Moscow subway stations, which are all different and elaborately decorated "like a bank or something."

They also got a kick out of the street-side carbonated water vending machines with a communal glass that is sloshed out between customers. And relatively speaking, they liked the food, which was not so awful as they expected and was definitely better than London.

Brad Brahm found the people nicer than he expected. And Richard Schwartz found life more normal than he expected. "I thought it would be more closed out, that people cannot do this or that," he said in a bull session at a hotel room strewn with old socks, paperbacks, and empty glasses. "I thought it would be more like they couldn't say anything, and they'd be walking around doing nothing."

Among the things the nine boys and five girls found disappointing were Moscow itself, the circus, and the constant adulation of Lenin. "I didn't like Moscow," commented Debbie Scidmore. "When we were driven from the airport down to Moscow, all the trees were planted in a row. I didn't dig that at all. It was too formal, too organized. It didn't even seem people could live there. It didn't seem made for people. . . . The only thing I liked in Moscow was looking at St Basil's Church."

The Americans also found it strange that most of the Russians they met on the tour were older than they were.

"I don't know where they keep their teen-agers!" exclaimed one 14-year-old.

When they did meet Soviet young people, they found conversation a little stilted — partly because of the language barrier of their first-year Russian — but also partly because the Russians didn't know how to ask questions, they said.

"It was really weird," said Julia Chang. "When we met anyone, we'd ask what they do on their free time, and they'd look blank — like what's free time?"

The Americans also could not imagine how Russians could live with just political movies and no rock and roll records except five-year-old American ones. Nor could they figure out what teen-agers do in the evenings when everything closes so early, or how they survive the constant rebukes of their elders for such things as wearing shorts, tying their jackets around their waists, or putting their feet up on the seats in front of them at movie theaters.

Mr. Rothman says 14-year-olds are just the right age to take to the Soviet Union. They're old enough to enjoy the trip — and in this year's group no one even got homesick. But on the other hand, they do not think they are grown up and get into trouble with the black market and Russian romances.

The Emerson Junior High School students say they would recommend this trip to other teen-agers. They are glad they came. And they are glad they are going back to America. "You don't appreciate anything at home till you come here," commented one. "I'm glad I was born an American!" exclaimed another.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

The Kissinger Nobody Knows

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's latest foray into the Middle East was a faultless performance.

He was his usual cool, convivial self, wheeling and dealing in the world's worst hot spot. He kissed the Arabs, embraced the Jews, and smiled for the cameras.

Despite a schedule that would exhaust a normal man, he was always ready with a quiet word, a quick joke, a clever rejoinder. It was Kissinger's diplomacy at its best.

Few members of his worldwide audience realized that beneath the suave exterior, there is a Henry Kissinger nobody knows.

Kissinger's closest associates describe him as a brilliant but domineering man, given to a wide range of emotions. When his Middle East shuttle diplomacy broke down last March, according to intimates, he broke down and wept.

Sometimes, when he is tired and his nerves are frayed, his temper erupts like a volcano. His face reddens, his German accent thickens, and the explosives flow like lava.

On rare occasions, intimates have told us, he actually flings objects at the subject of his scorn. One former aide claimed Kissinger once threw a book at him. Another said the Secretary seldom lets fly with anything more lethal than a wad of paper.

Yet, in public, Kissinger seems always to be in complete control of himself.

The one exception came in Salzburg, Austria, last year, when Kissinger appeared at a news conference expecting to be quizzed about his considerable accomplishments in the Middle East. Instead, reporters bombarded him with questions about his role in the wiretapping of his former aides.

A stung, angry Kissinger denounced the "innuendos" that were being hurled at him. If the wiretap controversy was not cleared up soon, he threatened, "I will resign."

It was the only fleeting glimpse the world has ever gotten of the man behind the mask.

Prices Up, Polls Down: President Ford's political advisers are worried about his economic policies. They have warned him bluntly that he must bring unemployment down to seven percent and inflation down to six percent if he has any hope of winning the election next year.

Yet his own gradual goal, even if it is successful, would reduce unemployment only to about eight percent by November, 1976.

At the same time, the President is deliberately trying to raise petroleum prices to discourage consumption. And he is also determined to continue the sale of wheat to Russia.

His petroleum policy has sent gas prices at the pump up five cents per gallon in the past few weeks. And the Soviet purchases have sent wheat prices soaring. The effect is sure to be felt at the supermarket.

As gas and food prices have gone up, President Ford's popularity has gone down in the opinion polls. This is a coincidence that has not gone unnoticed by Ford's advisers.

Prince-In-Waiting: For five years, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk has been a ruler without a country. Now the Communists supposedly have captured his country back for him. The Prince is preparing for a triumphant return.

Secret intelligence reports claim, however, that the Cambodian Communists don't want the Prince meddling with their new government.

This would be embarrassing for the Chinese Communists, who have recognized Prince Sihanouk's government-in-exile. So in return for Chinese aid, according to the intelligence reports, the Prince will be permitted to come home for a ceremonial appearance.

Then he will be allowed to speak for Cambodia at the United Nations. It will be a hit-and-run speech, without any of the usual backroom diplomacy.

Then the Prince will return to Peking where he will continue, in effect, to be a ruler without a country.

Agnew Record: Former U.S. Attorney George Beall, the man who prosecuted ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew, is quietly making an effort to preserve the precise words in the secret judicial conference that resulted in Agnew's resignation. The talks between Agnew's lawyer and Justice Department attorneys were taken down by a court stenographer, but they were never transcribed. Now Beall is trying to get the former Vice President's permission to make a permanent record.

Bogus Blockade: The U.S. government has partially relaxed its 13-year-old economic embargo of Cuba. The truth is, it has not been effective for years.

Few of America's allies subscribed to the blockade. British companies have been trading with Fidel Castro's government for over a decade. Canada has long been dealing quietly with Cuba. Even the tiny nation of Israel, one of America's staunchest allies, secretly aided the Castro regime with private grants and technical assistance throughout the 1960's.

Israel's support of Cuba did not end until 1973, when Castro visited the Middle East and was persuaded by the leaders of Libya and Algeria to break diplomatic relations with Jerusalem.

Washington Whirl: The Ashland Oil company has been caught making improper contributions to U.S. politicians and foreign officials. From now on, an Ashland spokesman told us, the firm would contribute only to the United Fund and the Girl Scouts. Carpenters on Capitol Hill tell us they are being "worked to death" by Congressmen who want their offices redecorated before the Bicentennial tourists start swarming through the building. Secret intelligence reports reveal that the Shah of Iran has started developing his own missiles.

Austin Notebook

AUSTIN — Sometimes you begin to wonder whether Duval County is running Texas.

Every book written about the late President Lyndon B. Johnson uses a lot of misinformation, and a lot of information, about the big effect the late George Parr had on Johnson's election to the U. S. Senate in 1948.

Magazine writers back to the 1930s have been writing national exposes about Duval County politics.

Gov. Allan Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd took on the Duval County organization in the 1950s. A switch from Ralph Yarborough to Price Daniel in Duval County in 1956 lacked only a few votes of determining the governorship of Texas.

In 1919, the Legislature passed laws designed to break up the Duval machine.

Newspapers have crusaded, and won prizes, for exposing the Duval County machine.

And right now, the Texas Senate is in recess, getting ready to try Judge Oscar Carrillo at substantial expense, on a long series of charges brought by the House of Representatives.

But the fact remains, that had there not been a falling out between George Parr and his nephew Archer Parr on the one hand, and District Judge Oscar Carrillo and his friends on the other, there would have been no impeachment.

Probably, there would have been no investigation at all, had not the break produced the witnesses willing to say that one was bad and the other was good.

In fact, there were witnesses on both sides, and as a result, both Archer Parr and O. P. Carrillo faced Federal charges. Parr's has led to a prison term, still to be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. George Parr shot himself when that court was the only resort left to him. Carrillo's trial begins Monday on income tax charges.

How is it that such a tiny county in the brush country has so much importance?

In the first place, it is so small that its huge voting majorities on a countywide basis are noticeable.

In many cities, it is not unusual to see election returns from a black or silk-stocking precinct in the same percentage figures as the "chosen" and the "unchosen" get in Duval County. But they neutralize each other, and in the county totals, there is not that great disparity.

Within the county there is sometimes concern about "bloc voting," and it gets no attention elsewhere.

But the Duval County final returns stand out in the columns when they report 3,400 to 94 or 3,621 to 90 in all the statewide races.

Before the Parr-Carrillo split, this county with close to the greatest poverty in Texas had always voted together. Republicans despaired, investigated, called for recounts and viewed with alarm. And when they were in power nationally, their U. S. district attorneys have often managed to investigate and sometimes convict, but not on vote fraud.

It recalls the remark by the late Wick Fowler, who was a reporter sent to Duval County to observe an election day: "With the FBI, the Texas Rangers and me all watching them like hawks, those illiterate Mexicans stuffed those ballot boxes again."

It was a clear case of majority rule — big majorities. Folks who voted had faith in the "ticket" given them by the Parrs and the Carrillos and others they trusted, and they voted that way, or assented when they were helped to vote that way.

Outside efforts failed again and again to break up that near-unanimity. In 1972, Duval gave 4,017 votes to Wayne Connally for lieutenant governor. Bill Hobby, his closest opponent, got 160 against the brother of John Connally, the former governor and treasury secretary.

And when the others were eliminated in the first primary,

Band Boosters plan social Monday, Sept. 8

All parents who have children in the Georgetown public school band programs — 6th grade through high school — are urged to attend a social gathering of the Band Boosters in the new High School Band Hall Monday evening, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Tony Cascio, president of the Band Boosters, has promised a brief business meeting along with entertainment and refreshments.

"We're not going to hold many meetings this year. Since this is the first gathering of the year, it's real important that everyone be there who possibly can," Cascio said.

The band program, recognized as one of the finest among triple-A school districts in Texas, has received another signal honor this year. The champion Georgetown High School Eagle Band has been invited to perform before the opening game in Memorial Stadium in Austin next Saturday, Sept. 13, when the University of Texas Longhorns play Colorado State University.

UNWINDING FOR A FULL YEAR of student-led activities at Southwestern University at Georgetown, Pam Slaughter, president of the Student Association, gets ready to meet new students. She led an orientation program early this week to let students know about the many organizations, activities, and entertainments available on the Georgetown campus. "We had a great start, and we're looking forward to a great year," President Slaughter said. The state's oldest university opened its doors for the 136th year of classes on Sept. 3 with a record enrollment of about 915 expected.

WALLS ARE GOING UP for the new Sid Richardson Physical Education Center being built at Southwestern University at Georgetown. One of the facilities in the new building will be an indoor swimming pool, shown in the foreground. There will also be a basketball arena, handball courts, and other facilities to expand the physical education program at the school.

Membership in labor unions and public and professional employee associations with headquarters in the U.S. rose 4.8 percent to 24.2 million in 1974, the U.S. Department of Labor reports.

Here's How You Play:
HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $5, $3 or $1 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.

Games This Week
Put an 'X' in the parenthesis in front of the team which you think will win that game.

Southwestern promotes Mike Rossman to assistant director of admissions

Mike Rossman has been named assistant director of admissions for Southwestern University at Georgetown, Dr. Durwood Fleming, University President, announced this week.

Rossman, a graduate of Southwestern, is beginning his third year as a full time member of the admissions staff. As a student he also worked two years in the admissions office at Southwestern.

In his new job he will serve as liaison between the admissions counselors and Admissions Director Grady Anderson, and he will assist both the counselors and Anderson in carrying out the programs of the admissions office.

"I'll still be a traveling man," Rossman said, referring to the average of about 20,000 miles that Southwestern's admissions counselors travel each year in visiting prospective students. He will continue to work in East Texas and Louisiana and in parts of West Texas.

Anderson said that by adding the new position for assistant director Southwestern was bolstering its staff to meet the challenge of student recruiting facing private institutions today.

Two of those main challenges come from a trend of students to stay at home and attend the many junior colleges that have been built in recent years, and also the trend of most colleges and universities to expand student recruitment staffs and at the same time expand territories of recruiting.

"We just have to work that much harder in seeking the quality student whom we feel will benefit most from the educational experiences offered at Southwestern University," Anderson said. Southwestern showed an increase in enrollment this year with final registration figures expected to total about 915 students, Anderson said.

Diane Klepac visits in Arizona Miss Diane Klepac has returned from a two weeks visit in the home of her sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jeski, in Phoenix, Arizona. Mrs. Jeski is the former Betty Klepac. While there she enjoyed visiting the zoo, horse back riding, swimming and going on a tour of the Wrigley's (Spearmint) home. The weather was a bit warm while she was there climbing to a mere 115 degrees was a little much for Diane she said.

JARRELL FFA SWEET-HEART — Sylvia McLaurin was elected sweetheart of the Jarrell High Future Farmers of America chapter on August 20. Miss McLaurin, a Jarrell senior, will represent the organization at the FFA district banquet, the Georgetown and Taylor livestock shows, and all other FFA activities.

Florence trustees schedule Monday session

Florence school trustees will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Supt. Lee Roy Knauth's office at Florence High School.

Knauth will report to the school board on enrollment in Florence schools, student participation in school cafeterias, construction projects, and a rise in admission prices for football games.

The construction reports, Knauth said, will deal with progress of a planned dressing room for visiting football teams and a vocational education building.

The trustees will also consider bids to buy the district's 1960 Chevrolet school bus.

CAP agency slates Monday board session

The Board of Directors of Williamson-Burnett County Opportunities, Inc. will meet in regular session Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Mary Bailey Child Development Center, 411 E. Eighth St.

Agenda for the meeting includes acceptance of new board members, selection of a nominating committee, discussion of board, training, and a report from Rawleigh Elliott, executive director of the agency.

The board will also hear a report on the Comprehensive Training and Employment Act (CETA) summer program.

Williamson-Burnett County Opportunities is a community action program (CAP) agency based in Georgetown and associated with other such agencies under Capital Area Human Services.

MIKE ROSSMAN (right) is congratulated on his new position as assistant director of admissions by Grady Anderson, director of admissions at Southwestern University at Georgetown.

TB seminar set in Temple Sept. 13

The purpose of the seminar is to provide physicians, nursing directors, nursing supervisors, and hospital administrators with a firm grasp of the fundamental aspects of tuberculosis diagnosis, treatment and prevention.

SHOPPING WITH PLANNING
Planned shopping can save you money. If you can sit down once a week and plan the basic meals for the week coming up, you'll find you can save money. This method stops a lot of impulse buying, and saves unnecessary trips to the store. Also, keep a continuous shopping list on the basic items that are running low — then you may be able to take advantage of specials on the items you are almost out of.

Many important events have taken place at the well. In days long ago it was a meeting place, where all came because of the necessity to obtain life-sustaining water.

Jacob met his beloved Rachel at the well. Moses met the daughters of his future father-in-law at the well in Midian. Much later Jesus Christ met a woman of Samaria at the well and said, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst: but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

The church of God today is a meeting place where many come to obtain this life-giving and life-sustaining water of which Jesus spoke.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

We learned a bit late that the Ladies of the Women's Auxiliary of the Liberty Hill Fire Department were to have a booth at Liberty Hill Market Day. This organization has our unqualified support, as we would have been more than happy to publicize their booth, but we are confident that their home-baked goodies did get a good reception and that the ladies did have a successful sale.

We are, of course, very enthusiastically behind Liberty Hill Market Day which had many booths, and we support all of the good things that are happening in Liberty Hill.

The total enrollment in Liberty Hill schools as of September 4, was at an all time high of 404, and the prospects are very good for this steady increase to continue. Our community is blessed with a citizenry that is supportive of our school, and we definitely have a group of dedicated teachers, administrators, and school trustees. These things, of course, are what a community must have to maintain a good school system such as we have.

On Thursday, September 11, classes in the Liberty Hill schools will be dismissed and buses will run at 1 p.m. Lunch will be served at the regular time. All teachers will participate in a half-day workday Thursday afternoon.

Twenty-nine members of The Panther Band and their director, Rhane Hoppe, attended The Marching Band Jamboree at The University of Texas' Memorial Stadium in Austin on Wednesday, September 3. The Liberty Hill band will be making its first hometown appearance at the game with Thrall on September 18. The junior high game with Thrall will start at 6 p.m., and the high school game will start at 8 p.m. — be sure to come!

The game with TSD that was originally scheduled for October 16, has been rescheduled for 9 a.m. October 15, at TSD in Austin. This change was necessary because the break between quarters came at that time, and most of the students will be at home. The team from TSD will play here on November 12, instead of in Austin as it was originally scheduled.

The junior high football players had an intersquad scrimmage last Friday, which was followed by an ice cream party, hosted by the cheerleaders and pep squad for high school and junior high school football players.

This year's roster for the junior high football team includes the following players: David Brown, Marvin Cantrell, Raymond Cantrell, Arthur Carpenter, Gary Dodd, George Glass, Fernando Hernandez, Gene Holbrook, Keith Hutson, Pete Jaramillo, Lonnie Loyd, Steve Loyd, Curtis Riley, Walter Rutherford, Shelby Smith, Anthony Stephens, Maurice Stephens, Randy Weber, Clifton Whitt, Steven Moore, Aurilio Montes, Edward Montes, and Chris Baugh.

The Cheerleaders for 1975 for Liberty Hill High School are: Debbie Bohanan (10), Belinda Carlisle (9), Sandi Carlisle (11), and Amy Cullum (11), head cheerleader.

The junior high school cheerleaders for this year are: Sherry Whitt (8), Lisa Bohanan (7), Therisa Cantrell (7), and Sherry Hays (8), head cheerleader. Annette Milligan (8) is the alternate.

The Liberty Hill High School girls' volleyball team will play its first District Game at Jarrell at 6 p.m. on Monday, September 8. This year's roster for the volleyball team includes: Karen Pogue, Zene Tallett, Amy Cullum, Sandi Carlisle, Pat Sullins, Debbie Bohanan, Diane Williams, Vickie Smith, Cynthia Williamson, Shirl Holder, Laura Hinesly, Janice Satterwhite, Rhonda Bohanan, Karla Taylor and Natha Wetzel.

The menu for the Liberty Hill School Cafeteria for the week of September 8 through 12, will read as follows: MONDAY — Chili dogs, corn, potato chips, peanut butter cookies, milk; TUESDAY — Roast, potatoes with gravy, green beans, ice cream, and milk; WEDNESDAY — Surf cake latties, slaw, French fries, elli and milk; THURSDAY — mothered steak, potatoes with gravy, mixed vegetables, ice cream, and milk; FRIDAY — beef stew, salad, cornbread, fruit and milk.

According to an official announcement from the Panther

Booster Club, the fencing for the backstops of the tennis courts is expected by early next week. The time for the erection of the backstops is expected to be set for the later part of next week, with the wire being stretched on Saturday, September 13.

Everyone who comes to assist in this project should bring a wire brush to be used in getting the pipes ready for paint and a paint brush to be used in the painting. If the turnout for this job is good it should be completed early, so please be there by about 8 a.m. Saturday. Officials of the Panther Booster Club stated, "We can use plenty of help!"

The Panther Booster Club has started the annual drive for membership for the club; membership dues are $3 for an individual or $5 per family. Come join this civic club that is doing much to promote athletics in our school and in our community.

I am constantly reminded of the value of positive thinking, and I am convinced that a smile and an optimistic outlook are invaluable as one encounters the problems that arise each day. Everything looks a little better if you look at it from behind a smile!

KEEP SMILING!

Magical entertainment comes to Southwestern Wednesday, September 10

A full evening of magical entertainment will be unveiled at Southwestern University at Georgetown Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. when Donald and Joyce Brandon and Company untie their bag of tricks. program featuring "The Mystic Garden," "The Temple of Rein-carnation," "The Thief of Bagdad" and "Egyptian Fables." Act two consists of "Mysteries of Old Bagdad" and "Confusion." Act three includes "Modern Mysteries," "Mind Over Matter," and "Your Senses Baffled."

The Sunday SUN Page 7

The show will be held in the Student Union at Southwestern University. Area residents are invited to attend, according to Russell Dees of the Student Union Entertainment Committee. No admission will be charged.

ATTENTION PARENTS AND SCOUTS: The potluck supper and court of honor has been changed from Monday night, September 8, to Tuesday, September 9, at 7:30 p.m., at the First Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS CROSSING on the San Gabriel? This is one of the crossings to be flooded when water is impounded for the lake. Some people may call the crossing the "Second Booty" but natives remember it as the Russell Crossing. Later when the Russell's daughter married into the Jenkins family, the bridge was known as the Russell-Jenkins Crossing. Mr. H. H. Jenkins who grew up in the area recalls that the crossing was named for his grandfather, Mr. Russell, a principal land owner in the area. It has been, and still is, a popular spot to throw rocks, swim, fish, or just sit. The Booty Crossing Film project will seek to record this spot and others along the San Gabriel. Donations to the tax-deductible project can be made at either Citizen's State or First National. Call Linda Graves, 3-5040, for suggestions or information.

First Baptist Church prepares for second Lay Witness Mission

Members of the First Baptist Church of Georgetown have increased their visits and prayers as they prepare for their second Lay Witness Mission here Sept. 12-14.

Deacons and other members of the congregation have been trying to visit every church family in the past few weeks.

In addition to individual prayer, cottage prayer meetings were held last Tuesday evening and will be held again this Tuesday evening in the homes of several members of the church. A 24-hour continuous prayer service will be held on the Thursday prior to the Lay Witness Mission.

Purpose of the Lay Witness Mission is to bring about a new depth of commitment in the lives of the members of the church.

Leaders describe it as "a real people-to-people time when members of the church get to know themselves and to know each other better."

The Lay Witness Mission will be led by laymen, and more than 50 lay leaders from other communities across the state have accepted an invitation to be here next weekend to help the Georgetown church with its "42 hours of personal renewal."

The visitors will be housed during the weekend with different church families and

Enrollment up in Liberty Hill

The new $475,000 Liberty Hill High School has enrolled 150 students, Superintendent Bud Perry said Thursday. Grades 7 through 11 meet in the "open concept" building with 26,400 square feet that was designed to hold 350 students.

Two new grades, 10 and 11 with 40 students, were added in the school district this year. Beginning next school year, 12th grade will also be taught in the district.

Texas Education Agency teams are scheduled to visit the district in the spring of 1977 to consider accreditation for the high school.

Enrollment in the school district last year with grades Kindergarten through nine was 295. Perry said that most of the additional students are from new families to the community rather than those who transferred to Georgetown High School last year.

The elementary school has 254 students enrolled, according to Perry.

JOHNNY MCCOOK SERIOUSLY ILL

Johnny McCook, of Shreveport, La. is seriously ill with pneumonia and complications, his many friends in Georgetown learned recently. He is a brother of I. J. McCook Jr., who, with his wife and parents, have returned to Georgetown from a visit with Johnny and his family.

The new booster fire truck, and a new pickup truck for the electric department during the next six months were included in the city's fiscal 1975 budget as capital improvements.

First reading of an ordinance to annex 160-180 acres east of San Gabriel Park will be heard at Monday's reading, as well as second readings of ordinances annexing parts of the Quail Meadow and River Bend housing developments.

The new annexation tract would include the city's sanitary landfill and two properties adjacent to it, all known as the Sewer Farm.

Finally, the Council is scheduled to consider acquisition of right of way and land leases around the city's water intake structure on the site of the proposed North Fork Lake. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers owns easements around the structure.

7.37 percent of total municipal income. According to Callette, the general fund is used to pay "for anything to do with the city except utilities."

The city assesses tax on 60 percent of appraised property value, at a rate of 89 cents for each $100 of assessed value.

Last year, the city's top ten taxpayers accounted for over 18 percent of total property tax revenues.

Callette pointed out how increases in assessed value and tax revenue during the past ten years demonstrate Georgetown's growth.

Eagles drop opener

24, and after two incomplete passes it looked again like the Dragons may have run out of steam. But the Dragons had other ideas as they came up with the most razzle dazzle play of the football game. After a double reverse fullback Kevin Corbin threw a fifteen yard pass to, you guessed it, Mark Hester who took it to the 9 yard line. On first and goal Corbin carried in for the TD. Richard Ontiveros never got a chance to kick for the point because the snap-back was fumbled. And the Dragons trailed 6-7.

The Dragons tried passing for extra points following their second touchdown, but the pass fell incomplete.

The Eagles' final two points came on what was apparently an intentional safety by the Dragons. Round Rock had the ball at the Dragon 17 with fourth down and 3 to go. Joe Guajardo set up in punt formation, but when he received the ball, instead of punting he faked a pass, then ran all the way through the end zone, giving the Eagles a safety, and making it possible for the Dragons to get a free kick.

This strategy did work for it got the Dragons out of a hole and put the Eagles back on their own 46 from where they were unable to go for the score as time was swiftly running out.

Bufs win

The Florence Buffaloes smothered Lometa 32-0 Friday night at Lometa. Fullback Travis Lackey got the Bufs ahead in the first quarter with a 2 yard plunge up the middle, and Rusty Smith kicked the conversion to take a 7-0 lead.

The Buffaloes scored twice in the second quarter. With 7 minutes left in the first half fleet Florence halfback, Daniel Ramirez, scooted around right end for a touchdown, and Smith again added the point after. Then, with only 45 seconds left, Daniel Ramirez took the same route to score from 14 yards out. The kick was no good and Florence owned the scoreboard at the half, 20-0.

The third period was scoreless, but only 50 seconds deep into the fourth, Lackey bulled over from the one half yard line. The score was set up by a scintillating pass play from Rusty Smith to Daniel Ramirez. The pass for 2 points was incomplete and the Bufs led 26-0.

The Bufs were not quite through yet, for with seven minutes still remaining on the clock, Tommy Lethco went straight up the middle for another touchdown. The kick failed, but the Florence Buffaloes had won their first football game of the 1975 season by an eye-catching score of 32-0.

Cougars lose

Injuries to key players hurt the Jarrell Cougars Friday night as they dropped their opening football game of the season to Aquilla 6-25. Charles Amidon suffered a wrenched back and Jimmy Jones had a pulled hamstring to slow down the Jarrell attack.

However, Amidon did go back into the game to score the only Cougar touchdown in the closing minutes. The score at the half was 13-0.

Appraisals explained

Jack Garey, attorney for the Leander Taxpayers Association, explained Friday the Association's plan for limiting property appraisal increases in the Leander Independent School District.

Part one of a three-part plan presented to the Leander trustees August 29, Garey said, would set ceilings on increases in valuation of homes, raw land, and other classes of property, based on last year's values.

According to the plan, home values could be set at no more than 15 percent above last year's appraised value, and raw land, as well as business property and other classes of property, could be valued at no more than 50 percent over last year's appraisal.

"That means," said Garey, "that if a home was valued at $30,000 last year, it could be valued at no more than $34,500 this year. If a tract of raw land was valued at $200 last year, it could be valued at no more than $300 this year."

JOHN LANE TAKES ADVANTAGE of a well placed and timely block thrown by Ronnie Clayton to stake claim to more real estate as he gained all of the Eagle yardage in a first quarter 53 yard scoring effort. Lane's fine running was not quite enough as the Eagles dropped the opener to the Round Rock Dragons, 9-12.

Eagles drop Friday opener 9-12

The Georgetown Eagles dropped their opening football game of the 1975 season to the Round Rock Dragons here Friday night by the score of 9-12. The game was probably decided on a controversial play which the officials apparently did not see.

It was early in the fourth quarter with the Eagles leading 7-6 when Troy Sanderfer punted for the Eagles from his own 19 yard line. The punt spiraled high up field to the Dragon 48 yard line where a Round Rock player waited with his arm raised high in the air, waving it back and forth, for a fair catch. The Eagle players coming down under the punt saw the upraised arm and relaxed instead of converging on the receiver. But instead of faircatching the ball the Round Rock player gathered it in and raced up field to the Eagle 23 yard line. From there the Dragons drove for the go ahead touchdown.

As expected it was a hard fought football game from start to finish with the momentum going first with one team and then the other. It was the Eagles who had the first opportunity with the football as Scott Fairburn gathered in the Dragons' onside kick try at the Georgetown 47 yard line.

The Eagles went the 53 yards for the score with John Lane carrying the ball on every down. Lane rolled up 48 yards in 12 rushing attempts with the other 5 yards coming on a Dragon penalty. Lane's final sortie in the drive was right up the middle from two yards out. Following the touchdown Eddie Catron split the uprights for the extra point and the Eagles owned a 7-6 lead which stood up until the game was five minutes deep into the second quarter.

The momentum of the game changed in favor of the Dragons when quarterbacks Lance Mann and Kenny Cogdell began to connect on passes and the Eagle pass defense appeared to be glaringly porous.

The Dragons drove 68 yards for their first score. It began on their own 31 yard line when a Dragon recovered an Eagle fumble. On the first play Mann threw a prodigious pass to Mark Hester who gathered it in on the Eagle 39 for a 30 yard gain. After a Mann pass to Ted Williams was incomplete the Dragons were penalized 15 yards, and James Earl gained 8 rushing. With third down and still 17 yards needed for a first down it appeared that the Dragon drive was stalled, but Mann dropped back and twirled a 20 yard pass to Hester.

This put the Dragons in business on the Eagle

Council schedules variety of business for Monday night

Utilities rate hikes, new building permit fees, two new ordinances, capital improvements, and annexations will occupy Georgetown City Councilmen at their regular meeting Monday.

The session is slated for 7 p.m. in the Council Room at City Hall, 103 W. Seventh St.

At that meeting, the city is expected to increase the amount of the "fuel adjustment" charge it tacks onto monthly electrical bills, and Lone Star Gas will seek final approval of its rate hike request.

In recent months, the city has regularly added 60 percent of base rate charges onto electricity bills under provisions of its contract with the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA).

But LCRA has notified its customers of a doubling in its fuel adjustment charge to cover variable costs of generator fuel, and officials say they will have to add more onto their customers' bills to cover the cost.

Lone Star Gas requested an increase of 19.8c per thousand cubic feet at the last Council meeting. Councilmen passed the first reading of an ordinance approving the request, which would raise the average residential bill about $16.00 per year. Monday night they will hear the second reading of the ordinance and take a final vote on it.

Building inspector Tom Sams is scheduled to introduce resolutions to raise building permit fees and to comply with state regulations regarding use of Community Development funds.

Sams introduced four proposed additions to city building codes at the last Council meeting, including plumbing, mechanical, heating and air conditioning codes, as well as the latest revision of the Southern Building Congress standard code.

Second readings of ordinances adopting those proposals will be heard Monday and final votes taken.

Asst. City Manager W. L. Walden has designed two proposed new ordinances for introduction to the Council on Monday. One would prohibit parking along Austin Avenue from Sixth Street north to Morrow, and from Ninth Street south to Eighteenth Street.

Last listing call on City Directory

Typesetting has been completed on Georgetown's new City Directory, but there is still time for additions to be made before the book goes to press, according to John King, owner of Heritage Printing.

"Those who we were not able to contact during the summer months, or who have recently moved to Georgetown, are encouraged to call us at 863-5454 so that we can make information in the book as complete and up-to-date as possible," he said.

Commissioners violate Open Meetings Law

Although the only item on Tuesday's called meeting of Williamson County Commissioners was "hiring of jailer," policies for the County Ambulance Service were reviewed for approximately an hour.

Commissioners indicated the policies would be adopted at Monday's regular meeting and an ambulance supervisor would be hired.

A recent Texas Attorney General's ruling stated that agendas must designate each subject (enough to identify) to be discussed at a meeting. Although Commissioners took no action concerning ambulance policies at Tuesday's meeting, the lengthy discussion was in violation of the Texas Open Meetings Law.

The Open Meetings Law specifically states: "Written notice of the date, hour, place, and subject of each meeting held by a governmental body shall be given before the meeting as prescribed by this section."

Here come the tax bills

City property tax bills will be mailed to nearly 1,150 Georgetown residents and companies before October 1, with the city enjoying a tax base 16 percent larger this year than last.

Robert Caluette, Georgetown tax assessor-collector, said assessed value of all real and personal property within the city limits (60 percent of appraised value) jumped from $19.5 million in fiscal 1974 to almost $23.8 million for fiscal 1975, which began Monday.

The city will bill $211,742.93 in property tax this year as compared to $176,361 last year. Bills not paid by January 31 are delinquent.

Caluette said the increase reflects steady growth for Georgetown.

"It's all tied into growth one way or another," he remarked. "A good part of the increase is due to new construction. We also had some annexation off Williams Drive which raised value, and we picked up quite a bit of property tax from business and shopping centers."

Property tax revenues go into the city's general and sinking interest funds, making up

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

At long last! Those wires ranging around the square are gone and rapidly are being forgotten.

All that is left to do, a quick glance tells us, is for the old telephone poles to be pulled up and hauled away.

OUR THANKS to the citizens who voted a $20,000 bond issue and to General Telephone for spending a like amount to get the job done. It took a long time but the consummation of a long-expressed wish is right here.

Two or three hundred potential customers to the Georgetown-Round Rock game Friday night didn't attend the game, I calculate, because they wanted to watch the Dallas Cowboy-Oakland Raider game the same evening. Multiply this by all the high school games throughout the state and send a bill to the Hon. Tex. Schramm, Cowboy president, who ignored pleas from the Texas Interscholastic League not to put on his show. "If we hadn't been on TV that night, some other NFL team would have," Schramm claimed, ignoring the fact that Dallas is the only pro team that has a true, statewide following of avid fans. Shame on you, Tex!

I WOULDN'T SAY that the SUN is "tough" when it comes to collecting delinquent accounts but Kenneth "Bud" Jordan did amble over with a check from the county to clear up a matter of business. It was necessary so that a tax suit could be cleared up. Date of said suit — December 28, 1927. We never give up!

I SAT DOWN RECENTLY for a cup of coffee with J. H. "Buster" Compton, Sam Brady and Bill Ludwig and in ten minutes had this column all but finished.

Buster was thinking about the relatives of the deceased gathered to hear the last will and testimony read by the lawyer. The will began, as many wills do, "Being of sound mind," but at that point it took a detour. "Being of sound mind," it said, "I spent it all myself."

That reminded Sam of the fellow who left his worldly goods to friends and relatives and even remembered the tax collector. "To the tax collector, who has been squeezing me most of my life, I leave a lemon. He can squeeze that instead of me for a while."

Then Buster remembered the story of the fellow who designated that his coffin should be borne by the local bankers. "Those fellows have been carrying me for a long time. They might as well finish the job."

And, finally, Bill commented that it was the undertaker who would be the last man in the world to "let you down."

High level dialogue, eh?

Robert L. Finch joins Westinghouse as general manager

ROBERT L. FINCH

new Westinghouse general plant manager

Robert L. Finch has assumed the duties of general manager of the newly created heavy industry motor division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

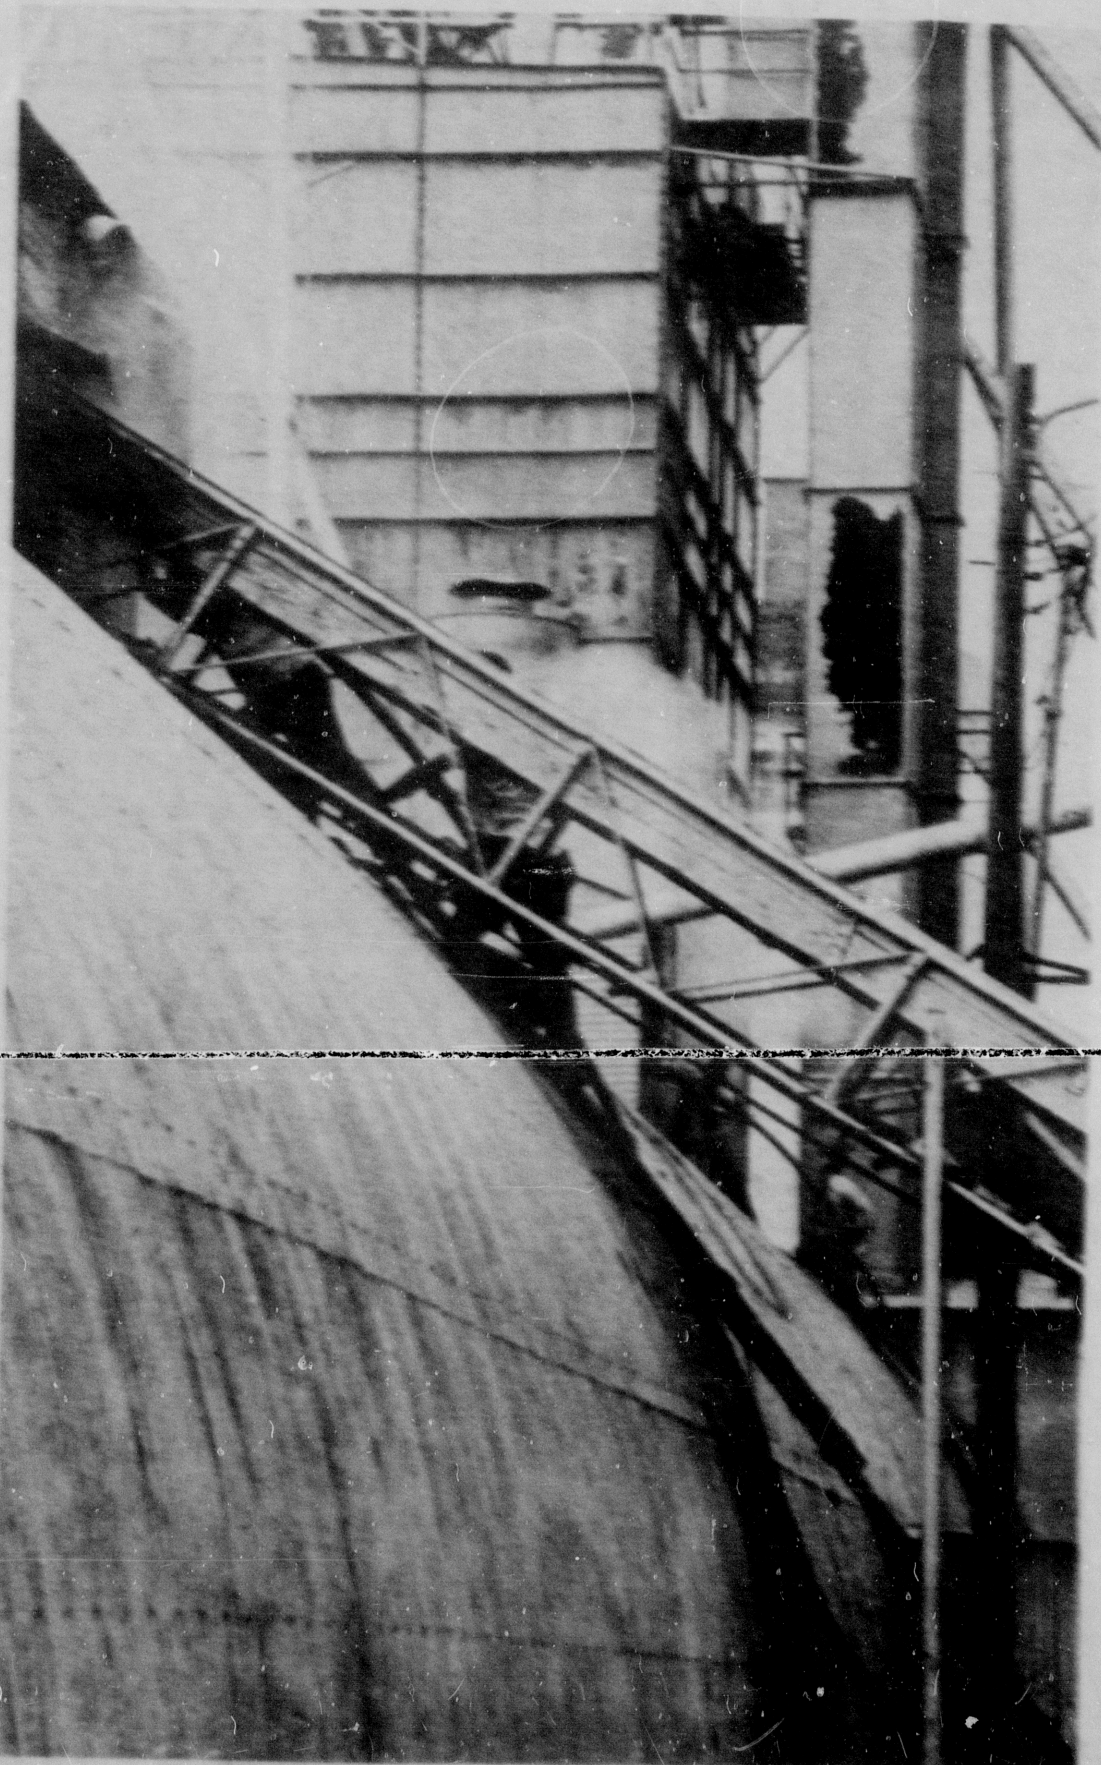

The new division will manufacture large AC and DC motors and generators required by heavy industry, particularly the metals and surface mining industries. These motors will range from 1000 to 12,000 horsepower and weights from three to 250 tons.

Finch, a native of Henderson, N.C., graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1950 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering. He has attended a number of advanced management courses including one at the University of Texas in 1974.

He joined Westinghouse in 1951 as an industrial engineer and advanced through a series of divisional management positions and corporate headquarters staff functions in Pittsburgh, Pa. His most recent assignment was as executive assistant to the executive vice president of the Westinghouse components and materials group.

In his new assignment he will be responsible for starting a manufacturing facility at the Westinghouse Round Rock plant north of Austin which was formerly occupied by the gas turbine engine division. This includes the installation and start up of equipment and the training of employees in diversified manufacturing and assembly skills. It is anticipated that actual production at the facility will start early next year.

Mr. Finch and his family will reside on Grestone Drive in Austin's Northwest Hills.

ALL THAT'S LEFT IS POPCORN — Twenty volunteer firemen and four units worked five hours Wednesday to bring the noon fire at Three Way Feed, Inc. under control. The electrical fire broke out in the corn storage bin damage approximately 35,000 bushels of corn. No insurance covered the building or corn with the total estimated damage at $35-50,000. The storage bin at Three Way Feed is the only one in the area that stores corn, but H. B. Cole said, unlike sorghum and cotton, corn can be left in the field the two weeks the storage bin will be closed.

AMERICAN BALLOTS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

In 27 states ballots must be printed for this fall's elections in languages other than English.

In 464 counties, where there is an appreciable number of adopted Americans who can't read English, ballots must be printed in their language as well as ours.

HOW ABOUT THAT?

The U.S. Department of Justice has messaged local officials in 27 states that, under the 1965 Voting Rights Act, all voters have a right to know what they're voting for or against.

So those that can't speak our language must have special ballots in their language — Spanish, Chinese, Japanese, various Indian tongues and dialects.

I think it is obscene to allow people to participate in running our country when they haven't even bothered to learn the language of our country!

The melting pot is supposed to "melt." Instead, it has become a "pressure" cooker.

ALL OF US AMERICANS are mostly something else. It was presumed that the immigrants who came to our new land would bring with them some of the culture, crafts and mores of the Old World.

But let me quote what Tom Jefferson had to say on the subject:

"In the further importation of foreigners, it is for the happiness of those united in society to harmonize as much as possible in matters which they must of necessity transact together."

"If they bring with them the principles and language of the government they leave, and transmit these to their children, in proportion to their numbers they will share with us in legislation, infuse into it their spirit, warp and bias its direction and render it a heterogeneous, incoherent, distracted mass."

"Suppose 20 millions of republican Americans were thrown all of a sudden into France; what would be the condition of that Kingdom? It would be more turbulent, less happy, less strong."

"We may believe that the addition of foreigners here, demanding the rights of citizenship without conforming to our ways, would have a similarly disastrous effect."

IF I MAY PRESUME to paraphrase the eloquent Mr. Jefferson: When in Rome, do as the Romans do.

When you come to the United States, because it is what it is, you don't try to change it into something which it is not.

And you don't stubbornly stick to your Old World language.

That's like keeping your first wife's picture on your second wife's dressing table!

Watch in the Sinai

Some folks are uptight because of the arrangement for the U. S. to supply a couple of hundred volunteer technicians to take their stand in the Sinai, between Israeli and Egyptian armies. We don't share their pessimism.

WE ARE MORE CONCERNED, surely, with the 40,000 soldiers we have in South Korea. If the North Koreans should march, our boys would be up there fighting them at the border and we would again have huge losses.

Because both Israel and Egypt asked for U. S. observers, it is reasonable to believe both will honor the line. In the meantime, shooting will have stopped, lives will be saved, the world can breathe easier and gasoline prices will probably decline, the experts say!

When Congress reconvenes a few days from now it must decide on whether the 200 men can be stationed in the Sinai. We expect the decision to be in the affirmative.

There go the bucks!

It's a fairly interesting spectacle but we wonder at the necessity of spending a million dollars to impeach Judge O. P. Carrillo of a small and virtually unpopulated south Texas county.

Our state courts could have handled the matter, probably a lot better than our State Senators will, certainly with less expenditure of public funds.

The wood burner

The wood stove has fashioned itself a peculiar niche in the country's history which makes it as much a part of Americana as the horse and buggy, penny candy and the cigar-store Indian, not to mention the one-room schoolhouse and patent medicine.

For many older Vermonters, it evokes memories of days when the pace of life might have been less than frenetic but seemed to have another dimension that has been lost on the way from there to here.

Somewhere there was an ineffable aura in those kitchens of the past, in which the stove crackled and hissed while the aroma of baking bread mingled with the heady scent of burning wood, that one cannot recapture in the plastic kitchens of today, no matter how many gimcracks and giegaws there may be to ease the housewife's burden.

On a frigid winter afternoon, a shivering youngster coming home from school was allowed the luxury of thrusting his nipped feet into the empty oven to toast them for several delicious moments while a pot of stew, bubbling atop the stove, tantalized his nostrils and tastebuds. Chances are, his next job after his toes were thawed was to fill the wood box near the stove.

These memories probably came swirling back to many Vermonters (recently) when the Governor's

U.S.S.R. through teen-age eyes

By Elizabeth Pond

Vilnius, U.S.S.R.

One American boy was hit on the head with a purse by a Russian grandmother who thought he was misbehaving. Other boys with long hair were disapprovingly called "girls" by passing Soviet critics. And one black American girl was stared at a lot and repeatedly asked if she was sure she came from America and not Africa.

But still the 14 Emerson Junior High students from Los Angeles have been enjoying themselves on their three-week visit to the Soviet Union. So far they have seen Yalta, Moscow, Kiev, and Vilnius, and they will spend a few days in Leningrad before heading home.

The Soviet Sputnik organization that handles foreign student visits here said "several" American high school tours do come every year. Exact figures were not available. Groups must have at least 15 students. The travel rates they get are far cheaper than Intourist's mandatory charge for adults. The Los Angeles teen-agers paid about $1,500 each for all plane, hotel, and food costs, including their adult leader's expenses, in the Soviet Union, London, and Amsterdam.

Among the things the teen-agers liked were Russian ice cream, the honor system on Moscow buses, Gum department store ("like a self-contained world"), and Moscow subway stations, which are all different and elaborately decorated "like a bank or something."

They also got a kick out of the street-side carbonated water vending machines with a communal glass that is sloshed out between customers. And relatively speaking, they liked the food, which was not so awful as they expected and was definitely better than London.

Brad Brahm found the people nicer than he expected. And Richard Schwartz found life more normal than he expected. "I thought it would be more closed out, that people cannot do this or that," he said in a bull session at a hotel room strewn with old socks, paperbacks, and empty glasses. "I thought it would be more like they couldn't say anything, and they'd be walking around doing nothing."

Among the things the nine boys and five girls found disappointing were Moscow itself, the circus, and the constant adulation of Lenin. "I didn't like Moscow," commented Debbie Scidmore. "When we were driven from the airport down to Moscow, all the trees were planted in a row. I didn't dig that at all. It was too formal, too organized. It didn't even seem people could live there. It didn't seem made for people. . . . The only thing I liked in Moscow was looking at St Basil's Church."

The Americans also found it strange that most of the Russians they met on the tour were older than they were.

"I don't know where they keep their teen-agers!" exclaimed one 14-year-old.

When they did meet Soviet young people, they found conversation a little stilted — partly because of the language barrier of their first-year Russian — but also partly because the Russians didn't know how to ask questions, they said.

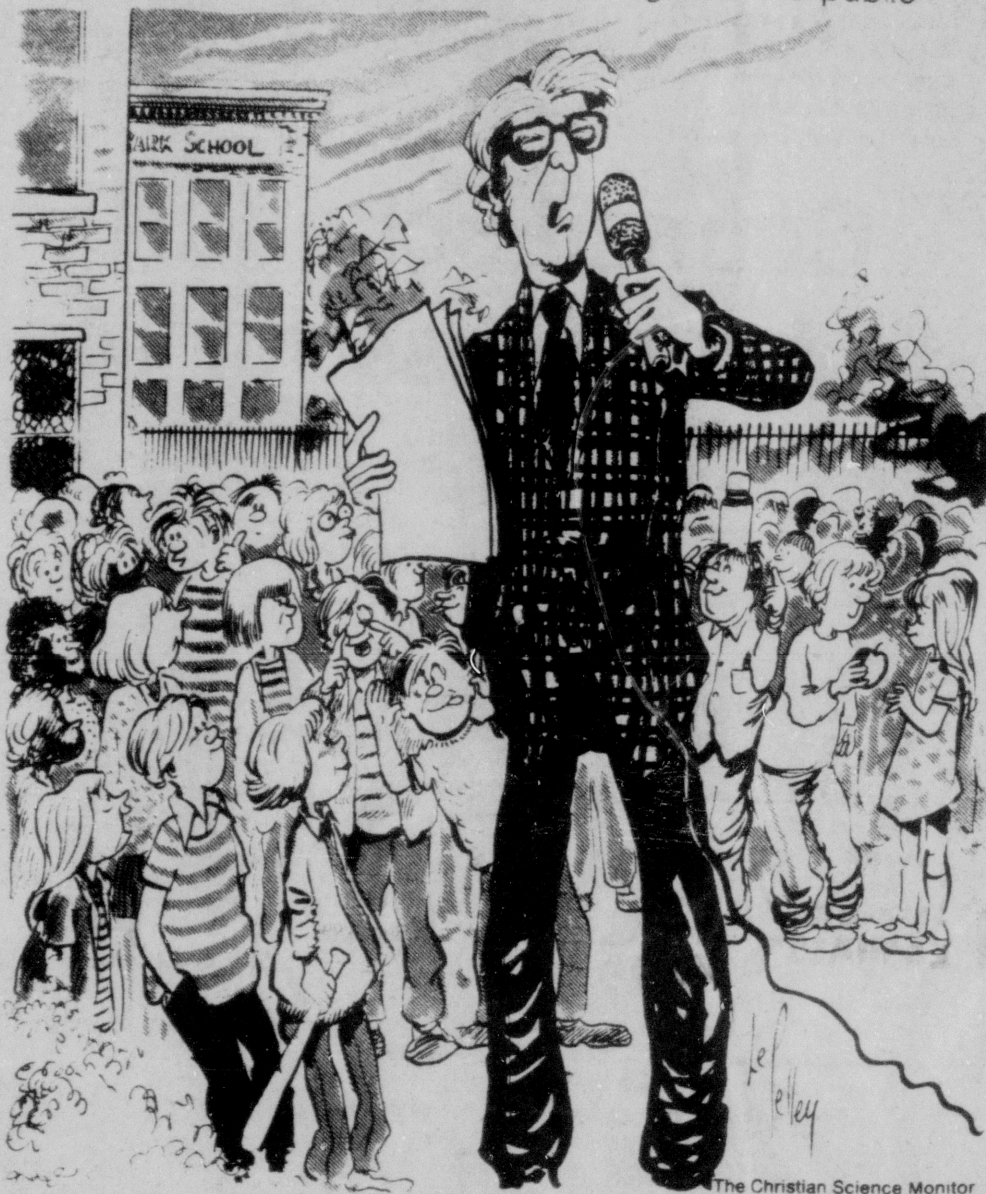

"It was really weird," said Julia Chang. "When we met anyone, we'd ask what they do on their free time, and they'd look blank — like what's free time?"

The Americans also could not imagine how Russians could live with just political movies and no rock and roll records except five-year-old American ones. Nor could they figure out what teen-agers do in the evenings when everything closes so early, or how they survive the constant rebukes of their elders for such things as wearing shorts, tying their jackets around their waists, or putting their feet up on the seats in front of them at movie theaters.

Mr. Rothman says 14-year-olds are just the right age to take to the Soviet Union. They're old enough to enjoy the trip — and in this year's group no one even got homesick. But on the other hand, they do not think they are grown up and get into trouble with the black market and Russian romances.

The Emerson Junior High School students say they would recommend this trip to other teen-agers. They are glad they came. And they are glad they are going back to America. "You don't appreciate anything at home till you come here," commented one. "I'm glad I was born an American!" exclaimed another.

The Kissinger Nobody Knows

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's latest foray into the Middle East was a faultless performance.

He was his usual cool, convivial self, wheeling and dealing in the world's worst hot spot. He kissed the Arabs, embraced the Jews, and smiled for the cameras.

Despite a schedule that would exhaust a normal man, he was always ready with a quiet word, a quick joke, a clever rejoinder. It was Kissinger diplomacy at its best.

Few members of his worldwide audience realized that beneath the suave exterior, there is a Henry Kissinger nobody knows.

Kissinger's closest associates describe him as a brilliant but domineering man, given to a wide range of emotions. When his Middle East shuttle diplomacy broke down last March, according to intimates, he broke down and wept.

Sometimes, when he is tired and his nerves are frayed, his temper erupts like a volcano. His face reddens, his German accent thickens, and the expletives flow like lava.

On rare occasions, intimates have told us, he actually flings objects at the subject of his scorn. One former aide claimed Kissinger once threw a book at him. Another said the Secretary seldom lets fly with anything more lethal than a wad of paper. Yet, in public, Kissinger seems always to be in complete control of himself.

The one exception came in Salzburg, Austria, last year, when Kissinger appeared at a news conference expecting to be quizzed about his considerable accomplishments in the Middle East. Instead, reporters bombarded him with questions about his role in the wiretapping of his former aides.

A stung, angry Kissinger denounced the "innuendos" that were being hurled at him. If the wiretap controversy was not cleared up soon, he threatened, "I will resign."

It was the only fleeting glimpse the world has ever gotten of the man behind the mask.

Prices Up, Polls Down: President Ford's political advisers are worried about his economic policies. They have warned him bluntly that he must bring unemployment down to seven percent and inflation down to six percent if he has any hope of winning the election next year.

Yet his own gradual goal, even if it is successful, would reduce unemployment only to about eight percent by November, 1976.

At the same time, the President is deliberately trying to raise petroleum prices to discourage consumption. And he is also determined to continue the sale of wheat to Russia.

His petroleum policy has sent gas prices at the pump up five cents per gallon in the past few weeks. And the Soviet purchases have sent wheat prices soaring. The effect is sure to be felt at the supermarket.

As gas and food prices have gone up, President Ford's popularity has gone down in the opinion polls. This is a coincidence that has not gone unnoticed by Ford's advisers.

Prince-In-Waiting: For five years, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk has been a ruler without a country. Now the Communists supposedly have captured his country back for him. The Prince is preparing for a triumphant return.

Secret intelligence reports claim, however, that the Cambodian Communists don't want the Prince meddling with their new government.

This would be embarrassing for the Chinese Communists, who have recognized Prince Sihanouk's government-in-exile. So in return for Chinese aid, according to the intelligence reports, the Prince will be permitted to come home for a ceremonial appearance.

Then he will be allowed to speak for Cambodia at the United Nations. It will be a hit-and-run speech, without any of the usual backroom diplomacy.

Then the Prince will return to Peking where he will continue, in effect, to be a ruler without a country.

Agnew Record: Former U.S. Attorney George Beall, the man who prosecuted ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew, is quietly making an effort to preserve the precise words in the secret judicial conference that resulted in Agnew's resignation. The talks between Agnew's lawyer and Justice Department attorneys were taken down by a court stenographer, but they were never transcribed. Now Beall is trying to get the former Vice President's permission to make a permanent record.

Bogus Blockade: The U.S. government has partially relaxed its 13-year-old economic embargo of Cuba. The truth is, it has not been effective for years.

Few of America's allies subscribed to the blockade. British companies have been trading with Fidel Castro's government for over a decade. Canada has long been dealing quietly with Cuba. Even the tiny nation of Israel, one of America's staunchest allies, secretly aided the Castro regime with private grants and technical assistance throughout the 1960's.

Israel's support of Cuba did not end until 1973, when Castro visited the Middle East and was persuaded by the leaders of Libya and Algeria to break diplomatic relations with Jerusalem.

Washington Whirl: The Ashland Oil company has been caught making improper contributions to U.S. politicians and foreign officials. From now on, an Ashland spokesman told us, the firm would contribute only to the United Fund and the Girl Scouts. Carpenters on Capitol Hill tell us they are being "worked to death" by Congressmen who want their offices redecorated before the Bicentennial tourists start swarming through the building. Secret intelligence reports reveal that the Shah of Iran has started developing his own missiles.

AUSTIN — Sometimes you begin to wonder whether Duval County is running Texas.

Every book written about the late President Lyndon B. Johnson uses a lot of misinformation, and a lot of information, about the big effect the late George Parr had on Johnson's election to the U. S. Senate in 1948.

Magazine writers back to the 1930s have been writing national exposes about Duval County politics.

Gov. Allan Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd took on the Duval County organization in the 1950s. A switch from Ralph Yarborough to Price Daniel in Duval County in 1956 lacked only a few votes of determining the governorship of Texas.

In 1919, the Legislature passed laws designed to break up the Duval machine.

Newspapers have crusaded, and won prizes, for exposing the Duval County machine.

And right now, the Texas Senate is in recess, getting ready to try Judge Oscar Carrillo at substantial expense, on a long series of charges brought by the House of Representatives.

But the fact remains, that had there not been a falling out between George Parr and his nephew Archer Parr on the one hand, and District Judge Oscar Carrillo and his friends on the other, there would have been no impeachment.

Probably, there would have been no investigation at all, had not the break produced the witnesses willing to say that one was bad and the other was good.

In fact, there were witnesses on both sides, and as a result, both Archer Parr and O. P. Carrillo faced Federal charges.

Parr's has led to a prison term, still to be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. George Parr shot himself when that court was the only resort left to him. Carrillo's trial begins Monday on income tax charges.

How is it that such a tiny county in the brush country has so much importance?

In the first place, it is so small that its huge voting majorities on a countywide basis are noticeable.

In many cities, it is not unusual to see election returns from a black or silk-stocking precinct in the same percentage figures as the "chosen" and the "unchosen" get in Duval County. But they neutralize each other, and in the county totals, there is not that great disparity.

Within the county there is sometimes concern about "bloc voting," and it gets no attention elsewhere.

But the Duval County final returns stand out in the columns when they report 3,400 to 94 or 3,621 to 90 in all the statewide races.

Before the Parr-Carrillo split, this county with close to the greatest poverty in Texas had always voted together. Republicans despaired, investigated, called for recounts and viewed with alarm. And when they were in power nationally, their U. S. district attorneys have often managed to investigate and sometimes convict, but not on vote fraud.

It recalls the remark by the late Wick Fowler, who was a reporter sent to Duval County to observe an election day: "With the FBI, the Texas Rangers and me all watching them like hawks, those illiterate Mexicans stuffed those ballot boxes again."

It was a clear case of majority rule — big majorities. Folks who voted had faith in the "ticket" given them by the Parrs and the Carrillos and others they trusted, and they voted that way, or assented when they were helped to vote that way.

Outside efforts failed again and again to break up that near-unanimity. In 1972, Duval gave 4,317 votes to Wayne Connally for lieutenant governor. Bill Hobby, his closest opponent, got 160 against the brother of John Connally, the former governor and treasury secretary.

And when the others were eliminated in the first primary,

Band Boosters plan social Monday, Sept. 8

All parents who have children in the Georgetown public school band programs — 6th grade through high school — are urged to attend a social gathering of the Band Boosters in the new High School Band Hall Monday evening, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Tony Cascio, president of the Band Boosters, has promised a brief business meeting along with entertainment and refreshments.

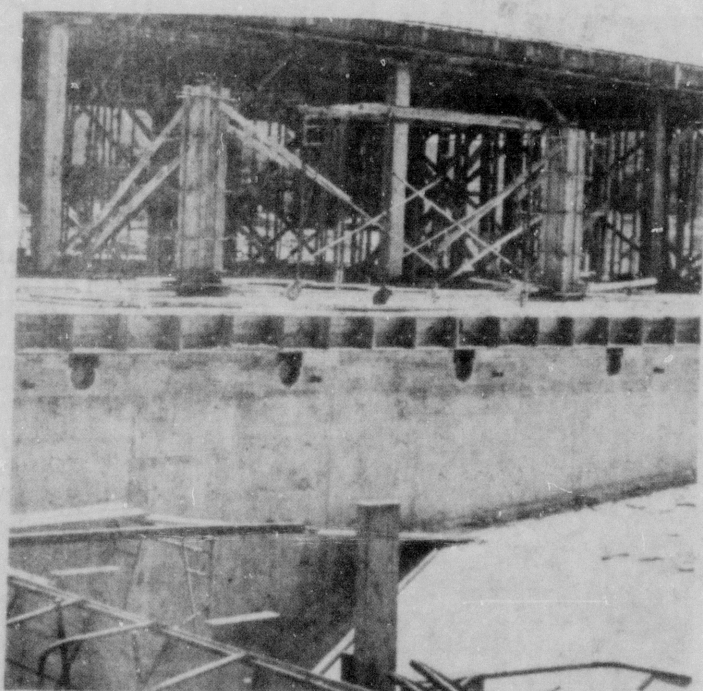

"We're not going to hold many meetings this year. Since this is the first gathering of the year, it's real important that everyone be there who possibly can," Cascio said.

The band program, recognized as one of the finest among triple-A school districts in Texas, has received another signal honor this year. The champion Georgetown High School Eagle Band has been invited to perform before the opening game in Memorial Stadium in Austin next Saturday, Sept. 13, when the University of Texas Longhorns play Colorado State University.

UNWINDING FOR A FULL YEAR of student-led activities at Southwestern University at Georgetown, Pam Slaughter, president of the Student Association, gets ready to meet new students. She led an orientation program early this week to let students know about the many organizations, activities, and entertainments available on the Georgetown campus. "We had a great start, and we're looking forward to a great year," President Slaughter said. The state's oldest university opened its doors for the 136th year of classes on Sept. 3 with a record enrollment of about 915 expected.

WALLS ARE GOING UP for the new Sid Richardson Physical Education Center being built at Southwestern University at Georgetown. One of the facilities in the new building will be an indoor swimming pool, shown in the foreground. There will also be a basketball arena, handball courts, and other facilities to expand the physical education program at the school.

Here's How You Play:
HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

- All entries must be brought to The SUN by 5:00 p.m. Friday or mailed with a postmark not later than 7:00 p.m. Friday of each week. The SUN will grade all entries, and The SUN's decision will be Final and incontestable.
- Have FUN! And patronize the businesses who make this fun-test possible.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $5, $3 or $1 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.

Southwestern promotes Mike Rossman to assistant director of admissions

Mike Rossman has been named assistant director of admissions for Southwestern University at Georgetown, Dr. Durwood Fleming, University President, announced this week.

Rossman, a graduate of Southwestern, is beginning his third year as a full time member of the admissions staff. As a student he also worked two years in the admissions office at Southwestern.

In his new job he will serve as liaison between the admissions counselors and Admissions Director Grady Anderson, and he will assist both the counselors and Anderson in carrying out the programs of the admissions office.

"I'll still be a traveling man," Rossman said, referring to the average of about 20,000 miles that Southwestern's admissions counselors travel each year in visiting prospective students. He will continue to work in East Texas and Louisiana and in parts of West Texas.

Anderson said that by adding the new position for assistant director Southwestern was bolstering its staff to meet the challenge of student recruiting facing private institutions today.

Two of those main challenges come from a trend of students to stay at home and attend the many junior colleges that have been built in recent years, and also the trend of most colleges and universities to expand student recruitment staffs and at the same time expand territories of recruiting.

"We just have to work that much harder in seeking the quality student whom we feel will benefit most from the educational experiences offered at Southwestern University," Anderson said. Southwestern showed an increase in enrollment this year with final registration figures expected to total about 915 students, Anderson said.

Diane Klepac visits in Arizona Miss Diane Klepac has returned from a two weeks visit in the home of her sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jeski, in Phoenix, Arizona. Mrs. Jeski is the former Betty Klepac. While there she enjoyed visiting the zoo, horse back riding, swimming and going on a tour of the Wrigley's (Spearhead) home. The weather was a bit warm while she was there climbing to a mere 115 degrees was a little much for Diane she said.

JARRELL FFA SWEET-HEART — Sylvia McLaurin was elected sweetheart of the Jarrell High Future Farmers of America chapter on August 20. Miss McLaurin, a Jarrell senior, will represent the organization at the FFA district banquet, the Georgetown and Taylor livestock shows, and all other FFA activities.

Florence trustees schedule Monday session

Florence school trustees will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Supt. Lee Roy Knauth's office at Florence High School.

Knauth will report to the school board on enrollment in Florence schools, student participation in school cafeterias, construction projects, and a rise in admission prices for football games.

The construction reports, Knauth said, will deal with progress of a planned dressing room for visiting football teams and a vocational education building.

The trustees will also consider bids to buy the district's 1960 Chevrolet school bus.

CAP agency slates Monday board session

The Board of Directors of Williamson-Burnett County Opportunities, Inc. will meet in regular session Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Mary Bailey Child Development Center, 411 E. Eighth St.

Agenda for the meeting includes acceptance of new board members, selection of a nominating committee, discussion of board training, and a report from Rawleigh Elliott, executive director of the agency.

The board will also hear a report on the Comprehensive Training and Employment Act (CETA) summer program.

Williamson-Burnett County Opportunities is a community action program (CAP) agency based in Georgetown and associated with other such agencies under Capital Area Human Services.

MIKE ROSSMAN (right) is congratulated on his new position as assistant director of admissions by Grady Anderson, director of admissions at Southwestern University at Georgetown.

The purpose of the seminar is to provide physicians, nursing directors, nursing supervisors, and hospital administrators with a firm grasp of the fundamental aspects of tuberculosis diagnosis, treatment and prevention.

SHOPPING WITH PLANNING
Planned shopping can save you money. If you can sit down once a week and plan the basic meals for the week coming up, you'll find you can save money. This method stops a lot of impulse buying, and saves unnecessary trips to the store. Also, keep a continuous shopping list on the basic items that are running low — then you may be able to take advantage of specials on the items you are almost out of.

A well of water...

Many important events have taken place at the well. In days long ago it was a meeting place, where all came because of the necessity to obtain life-sustaining water.

Jacob met his beloved Rachel at the well. Moses met the daughters of his future father-in-law at the well in Midian. Much later Jesus Christ met a woman of Samaria at the well and said, "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

The church of God today is a meeting place where many come to obtain this life-giving and life-sustaining water of which Jesus spoke.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

A LITTLE TO THE LEFT, PLEASE — The County Courthouse had a leaky ceiling until Thursday evening. Then this brave soul dared the heights to recaulk the hole in the ornamentation on the side of the building.

Newly opened Belton office to aid Wm. Co. taxpayers

Comptroller Bob Bullock announced the opening Tuesday of a new area service office in Belton to better serve Central Texas taxpayers formerly served by the Austin and Waco offices.

The new Belton office will serve Bell, Falls, Coryell, Lampasas, Llano, Burnet, Williamson and Milam counties for all taxpayer needs.

The office is at 116 South East Street in downtown Belton.

"The distance a taxpayer has to travel to the nearest office is just as important as the area's taxpayer load in placing a new office," Bullock said.

Jim Bishop, formerly with the Comptroller's field operations headquarters in Austin, will serve as field manager of the Belton office, Bullock said.

To create the new Belton office, Williamson, Lampasas, Burnet and Llano counties were taken out of the Austin district. Bell, Coryell, Falls and Milam counties were taken out of the Waco district.

Georgetown School District to hold dedication ceremonies for new high school

The Georgetown Independent School District has set Sunday, September 14, for Open House and dedication for the beautiful new 2.6 million dollar high school, which was occupied for the first time when school started on August 26, 1975. Dedication and ribbon cutting ceremonies will begin promptly at 2 p.m. and Open House of the complete facilities will be held from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The administrators and faculty will be in the building during the tour of the building. Other schools in the Georgetown Independent School District will hold an Open House to welcome students back to the schools and to allow the parents an opportunity to meet and visit with all school personnel.

The Open House for Primary (grades K-12) will be Monday, September 22, 6 to 7:30 p.m. Westside Intermediate (grades 3-4) 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 23, Northside Middle School (grades 5-6) 6 to 7:30 p.m. and Tuesday, September 23, Junior High School (grades 7-8) 6:30 to 8 p.m. All notices will be given from the individual schools encouraging all parents to come and meet and visit with the faculty during the scheduled times.

Youth Appreciation Week, sponsored by the Georgetown Optimist Club, will be observed in Georgetown High School during the week of November 3-7. This is the week set aside nationally to honor youth of the cities over the nation and is sponsored nationally by the Optimist International and locally by each individual Optimist Club.

Mrs. Carolyn Sydnor and Edward Mugford, government teachers in Georgetown High School, will be in charge of Youth Appreciation Week in high school. Activities planned for the Youth Appreciation Week will be special recognition during the school week of the school activities of Georgetown High School youth. Student body will hold elections to determine a representative from the group to take over city, school, county, administrative positions, and all students representing the school at some elected capacity over the city, school or county will be guest of the Optimist Club, on Tuesday, November 4, at the noon luncheon.

The noon luncheon of the Optimist Club on November 4, will be devoted entirely to Youth Appreciation Day and recognize not only the students representing their peer group from the High School, but special commendation for all the youth in Georgetown, state, and nation, by a selected speaker.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS CROSSING on the San Gabriel? This is one of the crossings to be flooded when water is impounded for the lake. Some people may call the crossing the "Second Booty" but natives remember it as the Russell Crossing. Later when the Russell's daughter married into the Jenkins family, the bridge was known as the Russell-Jenkins Crossing. Mr. H. H. Jenkins who grew up in the area recalls that the crossing was named for his grandfather, Mr. Russell, a principal land owner in the area. It has been, and still is, a popular spot to throw rocks, swim, fish, or just sit. The Booty Crossing Film project will seek to record this spot and others along the San Gabriel. Donations to the tax-deductible project can be made at either Citizen's State or First National. Call Linda Graves, 3-5040, for suggestions or information.

A Happy Day to You!

Barry and Jeannie Ward, Vinson and Ann Brown, Jurgen and Ann Schmidt of Temple accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Steve J. Marturano Jr. and Patricia to an Amway Training Meeting at El Mott on Monday evening. Tom and Dan Carson were in Austin on Thursday after school on business.

First Baptist Church prepares for second Lay Witness Mission

Members of the First Baptist Church of Georgetown have increased their visits and prayers as they prepare for their second Lay Witness Mission here Sept. 12-14.

Deacons and other members of the congregation have been trying to visit every church family in the past few weeks.

In addition to individual prayer, cottage prayer meetings were held last Tuesday evening and will be held again this Tuesday evening in the homes of several members of the church. A 24-hour continuous prayer service will be held on the Thursday prior to the Lay Witness Mission.

Purpose of the Lay Witness Mission is to bring about a new depth of commitment in the lives of the members of the church.

Leaders describe it as "a real people-to-people time when members of the church get to know themselves and to know each other better."

The Lay Witness Mission will be led by laymen, and more than 50 lay leaders from other communities across the state have accepted an invitation to be here next weekend to help the Georgetown church with its "42 hours of personal renewal."

The visitors will be housed during the weekend with different church families and will participate with the local church members in small group meetings both Friday and Saturday evening, in coffee gatherings in eight homes Saturday morning, at separate luncheons for men and women and young people Saturday, and in the regular worship service Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

Any interested person has been invited to attend the meetings. Those who are not on the mailing list of the church can receive a complete schedule of events by calling the First Baptist Church office, 863-2673.

The new annexation tract would include the city's sanitary landfill and two properties adjacent to it, all known as the Sewer Farm.

First reading of an ordinance to annex 160-180 acres east of San Gabriel Park will be heard at Monday's reading, as well as second readings of ordinances annexing parts of the Quail Meadow and River Bend housing developments.

Finally, the Council is scheduled to consider acquisition of right of way and land leases around the city's water intake structure on the site of the proposed North Fork Lake. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers owns easements around the structure.

7.37 percent of total municipal income. According to Caluette, the general fund is used to pay "for anything to do with the city except utilities."

The city assesses tax on 60 percent of appraised property value, at a rate of 89 cents for each $100 of assessed value.

Last year, the city's top ten taxpayers accounted for over 18 percent of total property tax revenues.

Caluette pointed out how increases in assessed value and tax revenue during the past ten years demonstrate Georgetown's growth.

Eagles drop opener

24, and after two incomplete passes it looked again like the Dragons may have run out of steam. But the Dragons had other ideas as they came up with the most razzle dazzle play of the football game. After a double reverse fullback Kevin Corbin threw a fifteen yard pass to, you guessed it, Mark Hester who took it to the 9 yard line. On first and goal Corbin carried in for the TD. Richard Ontiveros never got a chance to kick for the point because the snap-back was fumbled. And the Dragons trailed 6-7.

The Dragons tried passing for extra points following their second touchdown, but the pass fell incomplete.

The Eagles' final two points came on what was apparently an intentional safety by the Dragons. Round Rock had the ball at the Dragon 17 with fourth down and 3 to go. Joe Guajardo set up in punt formation, but when he received the ball, instead of punting he faked a pass, then ran all the way through the end zone, giving the Eagles a safety, and making it possible for the Dragons to get a free kick.

This strategy did work for it got the Dragons out of a hole and put the Eagles back on their own 46 from where they were unable to go for the score as time was swiftly running out.

Lions whomp Panthers

The Leander Lions showed the home folks a crushing ground game Friday night, and added just enough aerial display to keep the opposition off balance as they whopped the Pflugerville Panthers 26-6.

The big gun was wingback Nick Sukup who scored two touchdowns and had a third called back. Sukup scored on a 45 yard gallop for one and caught a 42 yard Greg Martin pass for the other. His 60 yard punt return for a touchdown was nullified by an infraction.

Danny Goodrum and Billy Hammack each added a counter on runs of 2 and 6 yards to give the Lions the biggest opening game victory in several years.

Thrall tromps Hutto

By Pat Gantt
Thrall's experience, size and depth proved too much for Hutto to Friday night as they swept past the Hippos 29 to 6.

The illusive ball kept slipping out of Hutto's hands until the fourth quarter. Driving for four first-downs, the Hippos finally scored a well deserved 6 points on a pass from quarterback Dan Stern to Phillip Thom deep in the end zone. Odell Kerley tried unsuccessfully to carry the ball for the extra point attempt.

Bufs win

The Florence Buffaloes smothered Lometa 32-0 Friday night at Lometa. Fullback Travis Lackey got the Buffs ahead in the first quarter with a 2 yard plunge up the middle, and Rusty Smith kicked the conversion to take a 7-0 lead.

The Buffaloes scored twice in the second quarter. With 7 minutes left in the first half fleet Florence halfback Daniel Ramirez, scooted around right end for a touchdown, and Smith again added the point after. Then, with only 45 seconds left, Daniel Ramirez took the same route to score from 14 yards out. The kick was no good and Florence owned the scoreboard at the half, 20-0.

The third period was scoreless, but only 50 seconds deep into the fourth, Lackey bulled over from the one half yard line. The score was set up by a scintillating pass play from Rusty Smith to Daniel Ramirez. The pass for 2 points was incomplete and the Buffs led 26-0.

The Buffs were not quite through yet, for with seven minutes still remaining on the clock, Tommy Lethco went straight up the middle for another touchdown. The kick failed, but the Florence Buffaloes had won their first football game of the 1975 season by an eye-catching score of 32-0.

Cougars lose

Injuries to key players hurt the Jarrell Cougars Friday night as they dropped their opening football game of the season to Aquilla 6-25. Charles Amidon suffered a wrenched back and Jimmy Jones had a pulled hamstring to slow down the Jarrell attack.

However, Amidon did go back into the game to score the only Cougar touchdown in the closing minutes. The score at the half was 13-0.

Appraisals explained

Jack Garey, attorney for the Leander Taxpayers Association, explained Friday the Association's plan for limiting property appraisal increases in the Leander Independent School District.

Part one of a three-part plan presented to the Leander trustees August 29, Garey said, would set ceilings on increases in valuation of homes, raw land, and other classes of property, based on last year's values.

According to the plan, home values could be set at no more than 15 percent above last year's appraised value, and raw land, as well as business property and other classes of property, could be valued at no more than 50 percent over last year's appraisal.

"That means," said Garey, "that if a home was valued at $30,000 last year, it could be valued at no more than $34,500 this year. If a tract of raw land was valued at $200 last year, it could be valued at no more than $300 this year."
